Bio

Andrew Williams currently serves as a Director of the Firearm Instructors Regional Association located in Trinidad and Tobago. Andrew is responsible for directing and promoting all activities of Law Enforcement training for Instructors. Andrew began his professional career in Law Enforcement in 1982 with the Trinidad and Tobago Police. He has experience as a Patrol Officer, Field Training Officer, Major crimes Investigator and Firearms and Tactics Instructor and holds several Firearms Instructor certifications and is the recipient of many Police commendations and accolades for service within the Law Enforcement community. Andrew is a proud member of the Firearm Instructors Regional Association (FIRA) and the International Association Law Enforcement Firearm Instructors (IALEFI). In 2016 he retired from the Trinidad and Tobago Police Service. Although Andrew taught Urban tactics, arrest/search/ seizure and Firearms while attached to the Organized Crime and Narcotics Unit, his Law enforcement focus currently is in Instructor Development. As a former NRA Training Councillor, Andrew has always had a passion for taking persons and nurturing them into great Instructors.
