

Charles Brown

Lieutenant Charles Brown (retired) served with Chattanooga Police Department for over thirty years. During his time with the Police Department, he worked in the uniform services division, was on the SWAT team, and served as a squad and team leader.

Mr. Brown has served as an FTO, FTO supervisor, and then was asked to chair the FTO review board. He served as an adjunct instructor to the training division for over twenty years. Charles is a certified instructor in the areas of active shooter, firearms, incident command, and leadership.

Mr. Brown has a bachelor's degree from Bethel University. Currently, Charles works for Walden Security as the Walden Training Academy Manager. Walden Security Federal Service Division is contracted by the US Marshal Service to provide training to court security officers for the majority of federal courthouses in the country.