

Jason Wuestenberg

Jason retired as a Firearms Sergeant from the Phoenix Police Dept in 2017 after 22+ years of service and served as a full-time firearms and tactics instructor for over half of his career. Jason has obtained over 20+ law enforcement instructor certification during his career and has trained law-abiding civilians, armed & unarmed security, law enforcement officers (recruits to SWAT officers), and military personnel. Jason was a member of the expert panel for his agency's Use of Force Board where he advised the Board members on department training and policy. Jason was also a member of the Tactical Review Committee which reviewed the tactics applied during officer involved shootings and provided recommendations for training. Jason was also a Firearms Subject Matter Expert (SME) for AZ POST and qualified to certify other officers as firearms instructors.

Jason has conducted both firearms/tactics training and instructor development training at the local, state, national, and international level. Jason has extensive experience in curriculum and training development for firearms training, shoot house training, and force-on-force training.

Jason currently serves as the Executive Director of the National Law Enforcement Firearms Instructors Association (NLEFIA) which is designed to provide national networking, information sharing, instructor development, and advanced certifications for its members. Jason manages the weekly operations, selection and scheduling of staff instructors, curriculum development and implementation, and actively teaches when needed. Jason is also the owner and primary consultant / trainer of Armed Profession Consulting, LLC.
