

Marc Fioravanti

Biography

Marc is an active sworn deputy sheriff and nationally recognized law enforcement instructor. He has over a decade's experience in detention supervision and law enforcement operations. He previously served his agency as the School Director & In-Service Training Coordinator, overseeing the Detention Officer Training Academy. Marc has authored, co-authored, and reviewed dozens of lesson plans and curriculum taught throughout the State of North Carolina. He is a state certified Firearms, Rapid Deployment, Subject Control, and Physical Fitness instructor. Marc holds additional instructor certifications in Verbal De-escalation, ICAT, Taser, Impact Munitions, BLS, and the SPEAR system. He is also certified through CJ Standards as an instructor and evaluator for the General Instructor program.

Marc's primary subject matter expertise consists of use of force prevention, application, investigation, and review. He holds multiple certifications in use of force analysis and evaluation. Marc's academic research focuses on use of force prevention through effective communication and application through the study of timing and dynamics of attack initiation. Marc is a criminal justice faculty member at two local colleges. His academic expertise lies in the areas of civil liability and constitutional law. Marc and holds a Master in Criminal Justice from Boston University.

FioravantiTraining@gmail.com