

THE IMPORTANCE OF INSTRUCTING & SETTING SUBJECT-MATTER EXPECTATIONS USING FORCE EXEMPLARS

Brief Description of webinar:

There are more considerations and foreseeable audiences to law enforcement training than officers and the specific subject of particular training. Using force, temporal arrest-related death (ARD), and other examples, we explore some of these broader considerations and expectations, and the importance of clearly including such information in training programs. Consider, the importance of including the frequency of law enforcement force and ARD actions and outcomes; using comparators to put morbidity and mortality rates into context; importance of post-incident key concept identification; significance of research reference “bundles;” and including well-formatted audience-specific information materials for decision makers, including judges and juries.

At the conclusion of this webinar, you will:

- Explain the potential benefits of establishing clear accurate expectations and neutralizing myths.
- Explain the importance of including incident frequencies in training programs.
- Explain the significance of rapid post-incident concept identification and research reference bundles.
- Awareness of using training to educate outside entities other than officers.

Speaker: Michael Brave

Michael Brave, J.D., M.S. (attorney, consultant, trainer, officer), is involved in a wide-range of comprehensive law enforcement risk/liability and litigation management services. He is an IADLEST International Certified Instructor (IICI) and Nationally Certified Instructor (INCI); he serves as Legal Advisor and a Board Member to the International Law Enforcement Educators and Trainers Association (ILEETA); and a Faculty Member to the Americans for Effective Law Enforcement (AELE). He has been retained as an expert in 230+ cases, has been involved in reviewing 600+ law enforcement temporal death cases, and has presented on force options and other subjects 1000+ times in the U.S.A., as well as Mexico, Canada, Panama, Austria, and the United Kingdom.

November 8, 2021
9:00am – 10:00am PST

Registration Link:

https://us06web.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_LDGTTeMH7QO6Emw_vlihTGQ

Questions: markdamitio@iadlest.org